CATALOG DESCRIPTION:

The course is devoted to the critical study of Modern Greece from the Balkan Wars to present day. It will examine aspects of Greek society, politics, economics, and foreign policy during the formative twentieth century.

RATIONALE:

This course is fundamental for all students who are interested in contemporary Greece and its political, social, and cultural developments

LEARNING OUTCOMES:

As a result of taking this course, the student should be able to:

1. Appreciate the complexities of researching and writing contemporary history
2. Understand the interaction and interdependence between wider global phenomena, and regional and country dynamics through the case study of Greece
3. Analyze the causes of the recurrent crises in Greece’s political system.
4. Evaluate Greece’s social, cultural, and political orientation towards the West and her role in the European Union.

METHOD OFTEACHING AND LEARNING:

In congruence with the teaching and learning strategy of the college, the following tools are used:

- Lectures and class discussions on secondary literature and use of primary sources
- Office hours held by the instructor to provide further assistance to students.
- Use of library facilities: Students are encouraged to make use of the library facilities for further study as well as for preparation for the exams.
- Use of the Blackboard site to further support communication, by posting lecture notes, assignment instruction, timely announcements, formative quizzes and online submission of assignments.
