(Revised Fall 2022)

PREREQUISITES:

WP 1010 INTRODUCTION TO ACADEMIC WRITING
WP 1111 INTEGRATED ACADEMIC WRITING AND ETHICS
WP 1212 ACADEMIC WRITING AND RESEARCH
MU 2014 THEORY AND MUSICIANSHIP I (or the ability to read music)

CATALOG DESCRIPTION:

This course focuses on the methods and issues concerning historical biography in music. The life stories, music and legacy of creative musicians in the context of their times will be examined via case studies and research projects.

RATIONALE:

This course introduces students to diverse approaches to historical biography in music and the recognition of a range of issues, perspectives, judgements, interpretations, and biases involved in the construction of biographies and the assessment of creative work. The course builds on critical skills developed in Music History courses at Level 4 and is complementary to the Level 5 Researching and Writing about Music.

LEARNING OUTCOMES:

After successfully completing this course students should be able to:

1. Identify and discuss diverse approaches, ethical dimensions, and a range of problems and issues relevant to the evaluation of creative work and the construction of historical biography.
2. Examine and discuss a creative artist’s life, legacy and development of musical style, within relevant cultural, social and historical contexts.
3. Develop writing characterized by reasoning and a close reading of evidence, citing diverse perspectives that shape, challenge or support the topic according to the rules of academic integrity.
4. Demonstrate improved skills of oral presentation and communication.

METHOD OF TEACHING AND LEARNING:

In congruence with the teaching and learning strategy of the College, the following tools are used:

- class lectures, seminars discussions and peer feedback;
- oral/video presentations;
- guided independent study;
- homework assignments including: assigned readings and summaries, listening/score reading, and written homework assignments which are then reviewed in class;
- office hours: students are encouraged to make full use of their instructor’s office hours, where they can ask questions, see their assigned work results and/or go over lecture material;
- use of a learning management system (Blackboard) where instructors post lecture notes, assignment instructions, announcements, and additional resources;
- support from the Student Academic Support Services (SASS), who offer one-to-one and group workshop sessions to support the development of academic and study skills.
