

Sustainable Vacation Tips

Always properly dispose of any trash you create during your visit.
Do not throw trash in the ocean or the beach.

Choose non-motorized activities. Avoid jet skiing, the banana boat and any type of activity that requires fuel.
Go on a sailboat ride, surfing or kayaking instead!

If visiting an island that imports fresh water, it's important to remember that conserving it is even more important during the hot summer months.

When eating seafood opt for the local, sustainably fished, species.

Do not taking any living organisms out of the natural habitat (e.g. starfish, sea shells).
They belong in nature and not in aquariums!

Visit an ecotourism area this year!
It will be a completely new and regenerative experience.

Be careful of how you dispose cigarettes as they may easily cause a fire.
Never light a cigarette near trees, forest areas and dry branches!

No need to request fresh towels and sheets from the hotel on a daily basis.
You will help conserve water and energy!

Do not cut any tree branches when going camping.
Leave the area as pristine as you found it!

Do not throw cigarette buds in the ocean.
It takes 1-5 years for them to decompose and it can be deadly for marine animals.

Never buy souvenirs made out of endangered animals (or any animals!).

Leave the beach cleaner than you found it.
Organize a quick 2-minute cleanup with your friends!
