Master of Arts (MA) in Digital Communication and Social Media

Overview

The digital and social media revolution has dramatically changed the way we learn, exchange information, communicate, consume, play, and work. For years, we have been witnessing the transition from an analog to a digital society, and the expansion of digital and internet media into all areas of our lives. As the industry rapidly grows, there is increasing demand for digital media specialists, people who are skilled in digital communication and media. The MA in Digital Communication and Social Media is designed to meet this growing need in the market. It is a specialist graduate program for students who aspire to plan, design, implement, and evaluate digital communication and social media strategies in private, public, and non-profit settings. With a cutting-edge and interdisciplinary curriculum, the program prepares a new generation of knowledgeable and competent communication practitioners, who are able to successfully navigate and shape the digital and social media landscape.

Student & Graduate Profile

The MA in Digital Communication and Social Media is designed for graduates from all disciplines, as well as for working professionals from a broad cross-section: educators, lawyers, entrepreneurs, consultants, and community/NGO managers. The program also welcomes communication professionals who wish to enhance their educational qualifications and their career opportunities. The aim is to recruit a qualified and diverse group of students, ensuring a quality and collaborative learning experience for everyone involved in the program.

Given that the field of digital media includes so many different areas of training, graduates of this program may pursue careers in communication and marketing departments, digital marketing, social media and advertising agencies, as well as in consulting positions and in digital start-ups across sectors (private, public, non-profit, small business, services, or self-employed). Indicative careers include: Social Media/

Digital Communication Manager, Brand/Digital Marketing Manager, New Media Publishing professional, Blogger/Social Media Copywriter, Media Relations Representative, Online Community Engagement Manager, Social Media Specialist/Consultant. Program graduates will also be able to engage in research or continue on to doctoral programs.
